Memory.

"Sweetheart, Sweetheart." I seem to hear her calling,
A-calling and a-calling down the years that have gone by:
And I seem to see the shadows of the early even falling,
As my heart-strings thrill and tremble at the sweetness of her cry.

"Sweetheart, Sweetheart"—night and day it (hrills me;
Echoing adown the way that memory has trod,
A-calling and a-calling to strengthen and to still me,
That I may come at last to har, at peace with man and God.

Layman-Carroll.

Layman—Carroll.

An amouncement that carries with it an unusual degree of interest brings news to Richmond of the wedding, on June 7th, of Miss Maude Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William 6. Carroll, of Court Street, Lynchburg, Vs., to Dr. Daniel Layman, a prominent young physician of Indianapolis, Indiana.

The wedding will be celebrated in St. Paul's Episcopal Church at 8 o'clock in the evening, and will be one of the most clogant and fashionable events of carly summer in Lynchburg society.

Miss Carroll, who has a number of relatives in Richmond, has always been considered a great beauty. She is very highly accomplished, being a graduate of the Woman's College in Lynchburg, where she took the B. A. degree. She won her M. A. degree at Columbia College, New York. Her grandfather, the late John Carroll, was in his day one of the wealthiest and most influential of Lynchburg's citizens.

I LOVE THE SEA.

By Rev. T. G. Torry ANDERSON.

Thomas Gorden Torry Anderson was the youngest son of Patrick Torry, D. D., bishop of St. Andrew's, Dunkeld, and Dunblane, He was born at Peterhead, Scotland, July 9, 1808. He was educated at Aberdeen and Edinburgh.

1827. He composed soveral songs of wide popularity. Jis died at Aberdeen, June 20, 1858.

LOVE the sea! I love the sea,

My childhood's home, my manhood's rest,

My cradle in my infancy-The only bosom I have pressed I cannot breaths upon the land,

Its manners are as bonds to me; Till on the deck again I stand, I cannot feel that I am free.

Then tell me not of stormy graves-Though winds be high, there let them roar; I'd rather perish on the waves Than pine by inches on the shore

I ask no willow where I lie, My mourner let the mermaid be My only knell the sea-bird's cry, My winding-sheet the boundless sea!

FASHION HINTS

GIRL'S BOX PLAITED DRESS
With Square yoke, and With or Without Lining.
No. 3126—Tucks and box plaits are combined on the pretty little frock here shown. The blouse has three box-plaits in front and at the back, where the centre box plait conceals the classing.

Two short tucks at sides of front give the required fullness to the blouse. A body lining gives support to the yoke, and a standing collar completes the high neck.

If preferred the lining may be omitted: or used as a guimpe.
The kicht is fitted to the wiast with box plaits the edges of which are stitened to yoke depth. The skirt is finished with a deep hem. The pattern provides for two lengths of sleeves and is perforated for the double purf above the elbow. The sleeve lining provides the doundation for the deep cuff, which may be of embroidery or lace or of fabric.

The original was of pale green albatross with yoke and cuffs of cream lace. The style is suitable for either washables or woolens and can be successfully reproduced in linen, chambray duck, lawn cashinere. Nuns' veiling, mohair or fine serge. If preferred the linking may be omitted cashmere, Nuns' volling, marine serge.

The pattern 3126 is cut in sizes for 4, 5, 8, 16 and 12 years and requires 33-4 yards of 30-inch material with 11-4 yards of lining and 1-2 yard of contrasting inaterial for 8-year size.

Experiment in Panama Being Watched With Great Interest Throughout Country.

MUCH DISCUSSION OF RATES

Cheapened Transportation May Affect Transcontinental Business of American Roads.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 18.-The collicians of the country, much less the ize that the United States government has owning and operating a railroad. Yet the action of the Panama Railroad directors double track the Panama Railroad, and rates at a point far below what they are at present, indicate ownership by the government, and a determination to con-at present, indicate ownership by the government, and a determination to control in the fullest sense.

The canal commission controls the road. The stock is owned by the United States government. The commissioners do not receive additional pay for services as members of the board of directors. President Shonts, of the Canal Commission, who is also ex officio at the head of the railroad directors, said the directors had not decided the question of rates. The transcontinental roads want to know what they are going to do about this.

Water carriage is so much cheaper than transportation by rail that it is cheaper to send freight to San Francisco from the cast by way of Panama, even though this route involves two extra handlings. The Panama road has had a monopolydid nothing to encourage trade by attractive rates, but took all the freight that came, and pocketed enormous profit. The dividends on the stock amounted to 33 1-3 per cent., in addition to a secret dividend of an unknown amount. The transcontinental lines of the United States encouraged these high rates, as every ton of freight diverted to the route across the Ishmus was lost to the railroads of this country engaged in transcontinental business. If the commission reduces the rate so as to make 8 per cent. on the stock, it is believed the cheapened transportation will very seriously affect the transcontinental business of American roads.

At any rate, the experiment in govern-roads.

At any rate, the experiment in government ownership, being conducted by a Republican administration, will be watched with keen interest by men or all parties. If it sliguid prove a success, those who are advocating government ownership in this country will have their cause immeasurably strengthened.

TARS CHEWING NAVY SAMPLES

Old Sailor Surprised Officer by Putting Entire Plug of Tobacco Into His Mouth.

AWARD CONTRACT ON MAY 1

Twenty-nine Bids Submitted by Nine Different Manufacturers, Including Richmond.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 18.—The award/of the contract for supplying the navy with tobacco will not be made until about the first of May. The successful bilder will secure a contract for 150,000 pounds of tobacco, to be used by the officers and men aboard Uncle Sam's fighting machines. The tobacco used in the navy is what is known as plug cut, and can be used for either chewing or smoking. The contract will not be awarded to the lowest bidder, necessarily, but to the one offering the tobacco best adapted to the tastes of the smokers and chewors of the navy. The present contract for tobacco for the navy is on a basis of forty cents a pound. The sallor really pays more than this. The tobacco is involced from the general storekeeper at the navy yard, where the provisions are drawn, to the pay department of the ship being supplied. The pay officer is allowed a certain percentage of loss in making up his quarterly returns of provisions and small stores. In addition to this, it has been the custom among the pay effects to increase the price per plug by several cents, in order to cover losses by theft or damages from water.

Nine different manufacturers subpilited

from water.
Nine different manufacturers submitted

from water.

Nine different manufacturers submitted twenty-nine bids, as follows:

Butler and Bosher, Richmond, 34, 34 1-2, 35; P. Lorillard and Company, Jersey City, 31 1-2, 30, 30 1-2; Lupfert Scales Company, Winston-Salem, N. C., 40 1-2; Larus Brothers Company, Richmond, 38, 39, 40, 41; Manhattan Supply Company, New York, 36 1-2, 37, 38, 39; R. A. Patterson Tobacco Company, Richmond, 36, 38, 40, 41; 1-2; Rucker and Whitten, Richmond, 38, 40, 42, 46; United States Tobacco Company, Richmond, 38, 34, 40, 41; Wright-Cassar Tobacco Company, Richmond, 45, 48.

Every bidder is required to furnish with his bid a liberal sample of each kind of tobacco proposed to be furnished. These samples have the factory labels removed, and identification marks known only to the chief of the supply division are substituted. One sample of the tobacco thus marked is then sent to a chemist for analysis, and a goodly supply, travoling "incog.," is sent to the commandant of the navy yard at Brooklyn, where a board of five officers will determine which of the samples comes nearest the requirements of the navy, Many officers and nearly all saliors chew, so it will be easy to give the tobacco a thorough test. In addition to securing the judgment of the officers, tobacco chewing 'jackies' will be submitted samples and their judgment taken into consideration.

Put Whole Sample in Mouth.

In this connection a good story was Put Whole Sample in Mouth. Put Whole Sample in Mouth.

In this connection a good story was told at the Navy Department to-day, Some years ago, when the tobacco was being considered by sample, an old sallor was given a small piece by an officer and requested to give his opinion as to its adaptability to the needs of the naval chewers. The old sallor surprised the officer by putting the entire sample into his mouth. He chewed for some time, and in an hour or so came back for another sample. The licutenant told him there was nothing more for him and intimated that his opinion was desired. "Nah, sir, I never risk my repertation on one chaw," was the reply. It is not known whether he succeeded in getting another.

known whether he succeeded in getting another.

Final results in the selection of the tobacce best adapted to the needs of the navy are reached by the process of elimination. When the contest has narrowed down to two or three, which are bound to be favorites, the result is communicated to the department, and then these unknown favorites are considered in the light of the manner to which they have stood the chemical tests. In this way it may happen that the lowest bidders may not be in the running when the award is made, for it is the combined judgment of a number of men that makes the decision.

judgment of a number of men that makes the decision.

Forty years ago it was the practice to supply the saflor with a piece of tobacco as a portion of his daily ration. But now, instead of giving him an indifferent article free, the government supplies him with the best procurable at a moderate price. The specifications provide that the tobacco shall be manufactured from pure leaf, of the growth of the current or precoding year in which the contract or preceding year in which the contract is made. It is provided that the tobacco shall have undergone a natural sweat. Delivery is made at the New York Navy Yard, fifty thousand pounds at a time.
